10 Quick & Easy Tips For Avoiding Embarrassing Auto Troubles

Is there any greater humiliation? You're sitting in your car at a busy intersection during rush hour. You're at the front of a long line of cars all eager to get home, and you can feel the tension.

As you sit there, you're thinking of all the things you need to do as soon as you get home. The kids. The shopping. Dinner. Then it happens. Sputter, chug...stop! Your engine quits. Your dash is lit up with glaring red and yellow lights. You panic.

Quickly you turn the key...but nothing happens. Right then, the traffic light turns green. Cars on all sides of you start rushing by. You can feel your hands sweating as you fumble around your controls, trying anything to get your car going.

The car behind you surges forward. He starts to holler obscenities at you, as if you could control what's happening. Through the glaring of horns, the pressure of people cursing you...you wonder why this happened. You scream at your car as you get out and try to move it to the side of the road or find help.

Most people don't think about their cars much—until there's a problem. And they usually surface at the most inappropriate time. Short of filling up the gas tank...perhaps only when it drops below "empty"...some people don't give their cars a second thought.

But cars are like any other mechanical device. To keep your trusty steed in good shape, experts offer some tips on making sure your ride is dependable. Here's a list of 10 simple check-ups you can do to avoid those stressful, embarrassing moments when your car decides to die at the most inappropriate time.

Tip #1: First and foremost, change your oil frequently and regularly. Experts say the most important thing you can do to extend the life of your car is to change the oil every 3,000 miles or three months. A quick stop to a Fast-Lube shop can extend the life of your car by years, and save thousands of dollars in the process.

Tip #2: Once a month, look under the hood. This 15-minute investment can prevent 70 percent of the problems that lead to embarrassing highway

Dog-Gone Sheets!

If you're like me, making up the bed with clean sheets can result in disoriented bedclothes. To make sure your feet will remain covered (as sheets are put on sideways), simply stitch a few strands of red thread to the middle of the bottom of the sheet, blanket, or comforter. That way you know which end goes at the foot of the bed—the first time!

Famous Quotes About Taxes

No one will ever come up with a funny income tax joke. It does, however, lend itself to some wry humor...

“There are two distinct classes of men...those who pay taxes, and those who receive and live upon taxes.” (Thomas Paine)

“The hardest thing in the world to understand is income tax!” (Albert Einstein)

“When there is an income tax, the just man will pay more and the unjust less on the same amount of income.” (Plato)

“The government that robs Peter to pay Paul can always depend upon the support of Paul.” (George Bernard Shaw)

“There is no art which one government sooner learns from another than that of draining money from the pockets of the people.” (Adam Smith)

“Like mothers, taxes are often misunderstood, but seldom forgotten.” (Lord Bramwell)

“But in this world nothing is certain but death and taxes.” (Benjamin Franklin)

“A taxpayer is someone who works for the federal government, but who doesn't have to take a civil service examination.” (Ronald Reagan)

And My All-Time Favorite...

“The trick is to stop thinking of it as YOUR money.” (IRS Auditor)

breakdowns. Check the fluid levels of oil, coolant, automatic transmission fluid, power steering fluid, break fluid and windshield washer fluid. If you don't know where these items are located, ask a service station attendant for help.

Tip #3: Never let your gas tank go to almost empty before filling up. The bottom of your fuel tank is loaded with deposits, dirt, and residue that's not good for your engine, fuel injectors, or carburetor.

Tip #4: Check tire inflation weekly, and alignment every six months. Properly inflated and aligned tires last longer, save money, and are safer.

Tip #5: Change your vehicle's filters. Changing the air, fuel, and oil filters extends the life of your car, and makes it operate more efficiently.

Tip #6: Change your engine coolant at least once a year, preferably every six months. But be careful, coolant can be toxic and harmful if ingested by children or pets.

Tip #7: Lubricate moving and rubber parts. This includes windshield wipers, door rubber, and exposed gaskets.

Tip #8: Get rid of rust immediately. Rust will eat away your car, causing a premature demise. If you find a rusty spot, scrape it away and sand the area. Then protect the bare metal with primer and paint.

Tip #9: Wash your car frequently and keep it out of the sun. Driving a clean car (with clean windshield) improves visibility and enhances your safety. Plus, ultraviolet rays can harm paint, especially metallic paints.

Tip #10: Most important: Schedule regular maintenance every 12,000 miles or one year, whichever comes first. Scheduled maintenance will keep warranties valid and maximize the value of your warranty. Plus, it prolongs the life of your vehicle, and will increase the value of your automobile when you decide to sell it.

No doubt, frequent auto maintenance can save you thousands, increase your car's value...and most certainly remove the risk of sudden, embarrassing moments in traffic!

The TRUE Value Of TIME...

We often forget how valuable our time is, until we see it all in perspective. Here's what I mean...

To realize the value of one year, ask a student who has failed a final exam.

To realize the value of one month, ask a mother who has given birth to a premature baby.

To realize the value of one week, ask an editor of a weekly newspaper.

To realize the value of one hour, ask the lovers who are waiting to meet.

To realize the value of one minute, ask the person who has missed the train, bus, or plane.

To realize the value of one second, ask a person who has survived an accident.

To realize the value of one millisecond, ask the person who has won a silver medal in the Olympics.

Time waits for no one. Treasure every moment you have.

Famous Quote...

"I went into McDonald's yesterday and said, 'I'd like some fries.'" The girl at the counter said, "Would you like some fries with that?"

Client Of The Month

Every month I choose a very special Client Of The Month. It's my way of acknowledging good friends and saying "thanks" to those who support me and my business with referrals, word of mouth, and repeat business.

This month I would like to recognize and thank Richard Weilnau for allowing me the opportunity to market his extraordinary subdivision, Blue Mountain Estates. Located off of Ebenezer Road, this subdivision offers incredible views of the mountains in a back-to-nature community. It's one of the few subdivisions of its kind with the horse enthusiast in mind. Over 4 miles of horse back riding, walking or mountain biking trails wind through the woods, along a stream, to the shores Little Lake Keowee. With a public horse stable just up the street, boarding and caring for your horse has never been so convenient. Thanks Richard for this great opportunity to promote such a unique and beautiful subdivision.

Airline Story...

An airline pilot reported that on this particular flight he had hammered his ship into the runway really hard. The airline had a policy that required the first officer to stand at the door while the passengers exited, give a smile and say, "Thanks for flying XYZ Airline."

He said that in light of his bad landing, he had a hard time looking the passengers in the eye, thinking that someone would have a sly comment.

Finally, everyone had gotten off except for this little old lady walking with a cane.

The little lady walked up to him and said, "Sonny, mind if I ask you a question?" "Why no ma'am, what is it?" "Did we land, or were we shot down?"

It's Printed On The Bottom...

A little boy returned from a trip with his father to visit the neighbor's new kittens. He excitedly told his mother there were four new kittens: two boys and two girls. The mother asked him how he knew which were boys and which were girls. The little boy replied, "Dad picked them up, and looked under them. I guess it's printed on the bottom."

Real Estate Corner...

Q. Could You Give Me A Few Tips For Selling My Home Fast and For Top Dollar?

- A. If you're thinking of selling your home, how you "position" it can mean the difference between getting a fast, top dollar sale, and having it sit on the market for a long time. If you're thinking of selling soon, you must call and get my Free report, "44 Money-Making Tips For Preparing Your Home To Sell." Just go to my "Free Insider Resources" page in this issue or call me directly at 903-5671. Here are a few quick pointers...
- First impressions are lasting. Look at your home as if you were driving up to it for the first time. What does the home look like? The driveway? The lawn or landscaping? Pay particular attention to the entry walkway and the front door area. Make sure all curtains are open and lights are on.
  - Get rid of any odors. They're a big turn-off. Smoking and pets are the most likely cause. Have carpets cleaned and home deodorized before showing it.
  - A coat of paint in critical areas (kitchen, master bedroom and baths) can do wonders to change the appearance and make the home look more valuable.
  - Get rid of that clutter! The way you live in a home, and the way you SELL a home are two different things. You have to move anyway, so pack up all your clutter and get it out of the way. An uncluttered home looks bigger and more appealing. Make your home look like a model home.
